CYPSCine

Interagency working to improve the lives of children, young people and families in Ireland

Welcome to the CYPSCine where we provide a round-up of what's happening across the country in relation to Children and Young People's Services Committees.

Minister Zappone meets national CYPSC Steering Group

The National CYPSC Steering Group was delighted to receive a visit to their June meeting from the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs, Katherine Zappone, TD. Minister Zappone opened by assuring members of her continued support for their work and the work of the Children and Young People's Services Committees across Ireland. What are we talking about?

At the February 2016 CYPSC National Steering Group meeting members took the decision to publish minutes of meetings going forward. In this way all CYPSC stakeholders and partners can find out more about what is happening at national level. We have created a web-page specifically for information on the National Steering Group. Dublin City North Urgent Response

In response to the recent increase in gangland activity a group of CYPSC members and other service providers in Dublin North City came together to explore a community based response. This work is still very new but a positive and determined start to support children, young people and families at this critical time. Click here to read more

This is me

Roscommon CYPSC and Galway CYPSC recently launched initiatives to support the transition of children from pre-school to primary school called "This is Me". These transition initiatives successfully piloted in 2015 are the result of inter-agency collaboration between pre-school providers, County Childcare Committees and Tusla-Child and Family Agency. From Welfare to Well-Being

At a conference in Dundalk, County Louth delegates heard how agencies in have come together to break down barriers and take a holistic approach to child well-being and family support. Lack of joined-up thinking between government agencies is often lamented in the media however Co. Louth CYPSC along with The Genesis Programme, an ABC funded programme is seeking to change all of that.
